Research the Viking Gods

Category 3: Art & design

Design a Viking board game

Draw or paint a picture of a Viking God

Parents:

If there is no obvious piece of homework to hand in, please ensure that your child writes a comment about the activity to show that they have interacted with the task.

Please support your child in furthering their understanding of our 'Vikings' topic. The homework has been designed to allow a degree of flexibility.

On the other side of this page, you will find some extra information for you and your child when completing your projects.

Viking saga

The Vikings used to tell long adventure stories called sagas. Remember, we're talking about people who lived many, many years before televisions and computers were invented, so sagas would have been a great way of entertaining each other.

Do you think you could write a Viking saga? An exciting story of adventure, battle or love perhaps?

Arguing activity

Consider:

- Why do we study history?
- What would happen if we did not learn about the past?
- Can we learn anything from the actions of people in the past?

Viking collage

Think about an interesting Viking scene – here are some ideas to help you:

- A longboat on a stormy sea (remember Hiccup!)
- A Viking farm
- The rainbow bridge between Midgard and Asgard
- A Viking raid!

Design a Viking board game

You have already tried playing a Viking board game (Hnefatafl - <http://www.homespunweb.co.uk/vikings/>). Think you can do better? Design your own, and test it with someone!

Recipe for a raid

You will need:

20 angry Vikings
1 longboat
1 monastery
Several peaceful Anglo-Saxon monks
A selection of weapons

1. Make all Vikings board the longboat
2. ...

Can you write your own 'Recipe for a Raid'?

Research tasks

In class, we have learnt about Viking settlements (where the Vikings settled and why) and Viking Gods.

Children can use books or the internet (with support) to research these topics further. A comment from parent or child, or some notes to show what has been learnt, would be appropriate to hand in.

A great place to start is

A longhouse model

Think about the features of a longhouse (the fire in the middle, a thatched roof, benches with animal skins) and try to create a miniature version. Choose your materials carefully!

Remember to enjoy! 😊
